

BULGARS SCALD HEIGHTS AT PIROT IN 3-DAY BATTLE

Crawled Up on Hands and Knees to the Enemy's Wire Entanglements.

22,000 SERBS DEFEATED.

Montenegrins and Austrians in a Desperate Battle on Mountain Passes.

SOFIA (via London), Oct. 30.—The fall of Pirot was a severe blow to the Serbian army. It leaves open the road to Nish and invites a strong Bulgarian advance toward the center of old Serbia.

The capture of Pirot followed three days of desperate fighting, ending at nightfall on Oct. 26. During the night the Serbs evacuated the city, sacrificing all their heavy baggage and leaving huge stores of ammunition and war material in the hands of the Bulgars. It is reported the Serbian losses were extremely heavy.

The fall of Pirot and Zajevar, together with the junction made by the Austro-German and Bulgarian forces north of Negotin, has rendered the position of the Serbians critical.

Zajevar was defended by a Serbian first-line division, 20,000 men supported by about 10,000 men of the Third Reserve. The Bulgarian forces numbered about two brigades.

Every mountain crest surrounding the fortress was covered with barbed wire entanglements and other obstacles. From these positions the Serbians poured a terrific fire into the Bulgarian lines.

The Serbians were subjected to a preliminary bombardment on Monday and Tuesday. This was followed by a Bulgarian infantry attack of the most desperate character. The Bulgarians were often obliged to climb on all fours up steep slopes to Serbian positions. Now and then the attacking parties were shot down or thrown back, but they returned to the assault and shortly before noon carried all the Serbian defenses.

ROME, Oct. 30.—Though on a comparatively small scale numerically, some of the bloodiest fighting in Europe was reported to-day in progress along the Austro-Montenegrin frontier. The Montenegrins have overhauled the Austrian attack on the western Serbian border by fierce flank assaults. To stop this an Austrian campaign was launched against them.

Taking advantage of one of the world's most difficult mountain countries, the Montenegrins have entrenched themselves so effectively that they have held their own thus far against enormously superior forces, inflicting terrible losses.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Athens reports that a hot battle is imminent at or near Irbid between Bulgaria, France and the combined Serbs and Greeks.

The French capture of Strumitza, in southwestern Bulgaria, was believed only an incident of the Gallic sweep northward from Salonika, with a view to clearing southern Serbia of Bulgars.

The Bulgars, according to the best available information, are concentrated along a line extending northward from Vela, which they are said to have recaptured from the Serbs to resist this northern advance.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—An Austro-German drive to the southwestward from Batocina, Serbia, was reported in Athens messages to-day. The Russian forces were believed to be attacking at Kragujevac, where the Serbs have their arsenal. Batocina and Kragujevac are about 100 miles apart.

"WEARY WILLY" WOULD RIDE WITH THE MAYOR

Climbs Aboard Car as It Waits at City Hall, but Is Thrown Out.

This is the brief story of the man who did not go motoring with Mayor Mitchell to-day. But he did go to sleep in the car and snored until Policeman George Neun, the Mayor's chauffeur, discovered him. And then the sleeper awoke, and when last seen was making heavy weather of it in the direction of the Battery.

The Mayor's car was standing on the west side of Park Row, opposite the side entrance of City Hall. Neun had gone in to tell the Mayor that the machine was there awaiting him.

Now comes upon the scene the wobbly man. He liked the car, with its comfortable cushions, the motor he saw it. So he climbed. He removed his hat and settled himself in the tonneau, spreading the Mayor's lap robe over him. Soon he was snoring in his warm contentment.

A small crowd had gathered, amused at the performance, when Neun came out.

"Wassmat!" was the reply he received.

"You're in the wrong tent," said the chauffeur, and without another word he had the sleeper out and on his way.

BRITAIN TOO SLOW IN AIDING SERBS, DECLARES ENVOY

Milenko Vestnich, Minister to Paris, Fears She Will Be Too Late.

DUTY DONE BY FRANCE.

Diplomat Says Britain Is Mistaken in Dealing Almost Solely With Western Front.

(Copyright, 1915, by the United Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Serbia asks favors from nobody. All she wants is fair play. She expects the allies to do their full duty by her. France is doing this already. Doubtless England intends to do likewise. But she is too slow. Unless she hurries, her aid will come too late.

Thus Milenko Vestnich, former Premier of Serbia and present Serbian Minister in Paris, summed up the Balkan situation to-day. He has just returned from Serbia and is familiar with all the latest developments.

"I do not wish to be interpreted," he continued, "as calling for help. It is not in the Serbian people's nature to do this. Nor do I say what I do in a spirit of criticism. I am speaking plainly for the allies' good generally."

"I have often seen in the English newspapers the intimation that the western front is the only really important front in the present war. Never was there a greater mistake. The real kernel of the war's cause was and is the Near Eastern question. Thus England and all the allies are interested in what is transpiring there."

"Germany began to concern herself in the Orient sixty years ago. The war is the direct result of her determination to crush the Balkan countries, which, though small now, were growing stronger and threatening to become a stumbling block in the German road to the East."

"England is especially interested in this problem, so ought to act more quickly. I do not doubt England's loyalty, but speedier action is necessary. There will be no use in sending troops to the Balkans after German aims have been accomplished."

"Germany has invaded Belgium and parts of France and Russia and now is attacking in the Near East. If she wins in this latter quarter she will dig herself in and fortify her line as in Belgium, France and Russia. Then her game will be to sit back, considering her part done."

"The allies must not let Germany do this, and the way to defeat the German plan is not to consider the western line all-important, but to cut wherever the Germans carry the fight."

HOW GERMANY CHECKS CONSUMPTION OF MEAT

LONDON, Oct. 30.—German newspapers publish the schedule prepared by the German Federal Council in pursuance of the decision to restrict consumption of meat. The schedule, which is forwarded by Reuters' Amsterdam correspondent, is as follows:

Mondays and Thursdays—Restaurants shall offer no meat, fish, fowl or hoes cooked in lard, bacon or dripping.

Tuesdays and Fridays—Butchers shall sell no raw or cooked meats.

Saturdays—Pork shall not be sold. Thus far the Federal Council has placed no restrictions on cooking or meats in homes.

"ENEMY IS LISTENING," FRANCE WARNS ITS PEOPLE

NO INTENTION OF CLOSING NIGHT SCHOOLS—MAYOR

But Not Even Board of Estimate Can Squander People's Money, Declares Mitchell.

Jack Abrams, saying he represented the students of the evening high schools of this city, wrote Mayor Mitchell a letter asking him if it was true he was going to stand for the closing of these institutions.

The Mayor replied to-day, and in part says: "The evening schools are not going to be closed. I would never permit that to happen if I could prevent it. It was merely made to appear so for a time by those whose interest in it is to tell lies about the present city administration. The Board of Education last year was given plenty of funds by the Board of Estimate to run all schools."

"You must not believe all the lies that are told by those who wish to deceive the people about the attitude of the Mayor and members of the Board of Estimate in this matter. Whatever money is necessary to keep up the schools at the adequate standard of service will be given by the Board of Estimate. We do not intend, however, to let the people's money be squandered—not even by the Board of Education."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the Navy Department had definitely established the fact that the fragment of the engine of war which sank the Hesperian was a part of a torpedo. The German Government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed. In the opinion of United States naval experts the fragment could not have been a part of a marine mine.

Secretary Lansing indicated that the Hesperian incident would not reopen the submarine warfare question with Germany except as to the fact and indemnity for the Hesperian's loss. No lives were lost when the Hesperian was sunk.

The finding of the navy's experts that the Hesperian was torpedoed was based on a piece of metal about twelve inches square, thrown upon the ship's deck by an immense avalanche of water.

NO COMPROMISE POSSIBLE, SAYS PREMIER BRIAND

New Cabinet's Fixed Purpose, He Says, Is to Crush German Militarism.

MAN OF HOUR IN FRANCE

Will Work With the Allies With a Common Motto of "Victory."

By William Philip Simms.

PARIS, Oct. 30 (United Press).—"Devotion not one iota from the country's fixed purpose to win the war and crush German militarism," Premier Aristide Briand told me to-day. "I will be the new French Cabinet's platform and it will be ours."

Essentially a man of great vigor and always eloquent, he spoke to-day more than usually forcefully. He never seemed more determined.

"I desire the world to understand," he went on, "that the change of Ministries implies no change in policies. We continue firmly one with our allies, our common motto being: 'Victory!'"

Far through victory alone will we win permanent peace.

"No compromise is possible. We must enforce the right of every country to rule itself, each privileged to enjoy its own culture, and as you say in America with security of life, liberty and property against molestation."

"Such is the new Cabinet's policy. Such must be the policy of any Cabinet which has the country's confidence."

The general view is that the creation of the new Ministry marks a turning point in events. Its predecessor is now regarded as having been one of preparation. The new one is looked on as a Ministry of action, put together primarily to conduct the war to a successful issue.

Briand is the man of the hour in France. Gallie optimism never was at a higher pitch.

GERMANS REPULSED AT HILL 140 AND IN CHAMPAGNE

Paris Also Reports the Capture of Trenches at Bois en Hache.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—French progress last night at Bois en Hache and the repulse of a German attack this morning near Souches are set forth in the following official announcement given out by the French War Office this afternoon:

"In the Aisne district last night we made progress at Bois en Hache and occupied a section of the enemy's trenches."

"To the southeast of Souches the Germans this morning undertook an attack in the vicinity of Hill No. 140. They were repulsed by a curtain of fire from the French machine guns."

"In the Champagne district the fighting is still going on in the vicinity of the position known as 'La Couronne' with the greatest ferocity. On four different occasions the enemy has endeavored to recapture from us the trenches we took possession of yesterday. These four counterattacks all completely failed before the energetic resistance of our troops, who were successful everywhere in retaining the advanced positions."

"There has been no other important action on the remainder of the front."

LANSING SAYS TORPEDO SANK THE HESPERIAN

Navy Experts Say Fragment Could Not Have Been Part of a Mine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the Navy Department had definitely established the fact that the fragment of the engine of war which sank the Hesperian was a part of a torpedo. The German Government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed. In the opinion of United States naval experts the fragment could not have been a part of a marine mine.

Secretary Lansing indicated that the Hesperian incident would not reopen the submarine warfare question with Germany except as to the fact and indemnity for the Hesperian's loss. No lives were lost when the Hesperian was sunk.

The finding of the navy's experts that the Hesperian was torpedoed was based on a piece of metal about twelve inches square, thrown upon the ship's deck by an immense avalanche of water.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the Navy Department had definitely established the fact that the fragment of the engine of war which sank the Hesperian was a part of a torpedo. The German Government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed. In the opinion of United States naval experts the fragment could not have been a part of a marine mine.

Secretary Lansing indicated that the Hesperian incident would not reopen the submarine warfare question with Germany except as to the fact and indemnity for the Hesperian's loss. No lives were lost when the Hesperian was sunk.

The finding of the navy's experts that the Hesperian was torpedoed was based on a piece of metal about twelve inches square, thrown upon the ship's deck by an immense avalanche of water.

BABY SHE ADOPTED TO LURE HUSBAND BACK IS A NEGRO

Truda Very Proud Over Being a "Papa," Happy Too Till Color Changed.

INFANT TURNS BLACK.

Wife Tells Story of Ruse, but Has Hard Time in Getting Rid of Youngster.

The leopard may not change his spots, but a baby may its color, as Mrs. Ida Marie Truda, forty-five years old, ruefully admitted to-day at the home of a relative, No. 925 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, where she is waiting for her husband to come and forgive her and help turn tragedy into comedy.

The story came out late last night in the East One Hundred and Fourth Street Station, when Mrs. Truda placed the baby on the Lieutenant's desk. She and her husband had been married twenty-five years without a baby blessing their home, she said, and last December he left her. She went to relatives in Albany, and scanned the papers every day until she saw where Mrs. Minnie Jaeger of No. 201 East One Hundred and Fifteenth Street had a bouncing boy baby for some one to adopt.

Mrs. Truda came in a hurry and adopted it, taking it to Albany. "I fell in love with the child," she told the Lieutenant. "I wrote and told my husband we had been blessed at last and that it was a son. He came to Albany, we became reconciled, and he became as fond of the baby as I was. We named him Joseph."

"That was in July. Soon afterward the child's appearance began to change. We thought it had leucodermia, and changed its milk, but that did no good. Joseph got darker and darker. My husband did not become alarmed until it got black. Then we called a doctor."

The doctor looked wise and asked her if it was her baby. She said of course. He said it was strange, as it was a negro baby. Then she confessed to her husband that it was not their baby and she had adopted it to hold his love.

Mrs. Truda took Joseph and the first train for New York. Mrs. Jaeger declined to take the baby back. Mrs. Truda had adopted it and must keep it. All Mrs. Jaeger knew about Joseph was that she found it on her doorstep and didn't know it was destined to change color.

In desperation Mrs. Truda next offered Joseph to a policeman at One Hundred and Fifteenth Street and Third Avenue, but he drew the color line. Her next stop was at the police station, for Joseph was getting heavy.

Lieut. Shevlin suggested the Children's Society and sent a policeman there with her and little Joseph. But the society officers heard her story and declined Joseph with thanks. The only place they could think of then was Bellevue, and in the founding ward Joseph is now awaiting developments.

Greatly relieved, Mrs. Truda returned to the police station and thanked Lieut. Shevlin, saying she only hoped her husband would forgive her deception in adopting the baby.

DISMISSES LAMAR'S APPEAL.

U. S. Court of Appeals Against Him—Case Still Before Higher Court.

The appeal of David Lamar, known as the "Wolf of Wall Street," from his conviction on an indictment charging him with having impermissibly given government officers, Congressmen and Senators a scheme to defraud J. P. Morgan & Co. and the United States Steel Corporation was to-day dismissed by the United States Court of Appeals.

After being sentenced Lamar appealed direct to the United States Supreme Court as well as to the Appellate Court for the Second Circuit. The Circuit Court of Appeals gave him ten days to reach any conclusion within the time set, and granted him a continuance of the appeal on the ground that the Supreme Court had prior jurisdiction of the case. Lamar is out on bail.

ITEMS FOR INVESTORS.

Buckeye Pipe Line dividend of $2 for the quarter was declared.

Missouri Pacific Railway will pay the interest on consolidated mortgage $ per cent. bonds of 1920, due Nov. 1.

W. H. Donner has exercised his option to purchase from the Pennsylvania Company one-half of its holdings of the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

Eric Railroad—September gross earnings increased $747,308. Net after taxes increased $67,755. Nine months' gross increased $2,628,377. Net increased $294,248.

St. Paul System—Three months' gross increased $511,502. Net after tax increased $358,528.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.

December... 11.95 12.10 11.95 12.08
January... 12.10 12.24 12.10 12.23
March... 12.24 12.38 12.24 12.37
May... 12.38 12.52 12.38 12.51
July... 12.52 12.66 12.52 12.65
The market closed steady, 1 point up to 4 off.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the Navy Department had definitely established the fact that the fragment of the engine of war which sank the Hesperian was a part of a torpedo. The German Government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed. In the opinion of United States naval experts the fragment could not have been a part of a marine mine.

Secretary Lansing indicated that the Hesperian incident would not reopen the submarine warfare question with Germany except as to the fact and indemnity for the Hesperian's loss. No lives were lost when the Hesperian was sunk.

The finding of the navy's experts that the Hesperian was torpedoed was based on a piece of metal about twelve inches square, thrown upon the ship's deck by an immense avalanche of water.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the Navy Department had definitely established the fact that the fragment of the engine of war which sank the Hesperian was a part of a torpedo. The German Government has persistently denied that the Hesperian was torpedoed. In the opinion of United States naval experts the fragment could not have been a part of a marine mine.

Secretary Lansing indicated that the Hesperian incident would not reopen the submarine warfare question with Germany except as to the fact and indemnity for the Hesperian's loss. No lives were lost when the Hesperian was sunk.

The finding of the navy's experts that the Hesperian was torpedoed was based on a piece of metal about twelve inches square, thrown upon the ship's deck by an immense avalanche of water.

GERMAN CONSPIRACY AIMED TO BLOW UP BRITISH SHIPS

Patrol out of business. If we could not, you can't imagine how easy it is for a quiet man to slip aboard of her and go where he likes between 3 A. M. and 4:30 A. M. The reserves are all asleep and there isn't so much as a guard at the gangway."

(Continued from First Page.)

What Fay said was true—up to the time that he told it. Since then a guard has been placed over the first of launches as they rest in the basin; and on the Patrol itself there is an officer constantly on the alert, with the means of calling the entire company in case of need.

Fay denies now that he had anything to do with putting fire bombs on steamships carrying supplies to the allies.

"That work," he says, "was done by men who pretended to be experts, but they did a poor job. They did not keep their contract. I know the man who put up $10,000 for this work. He lives here. He has no connection with the German Government. Those fellows cheated him."

PLANNED TO BLOW UP BRITISH SHIPS OFF HOOK.

A search for hidden explosives known to have been sold to the bomb plotters; the discovery of other active bands than the one headed by Fay; evidence that Fay and his co-workers had a scheme for blowing up the British war vessels on guard off this coast; information that funds used in plots here came direct from Germany; and the probability that American sympathizers of Germany will be enmeshed, were other developments to-day in the conspiracy investigation.

The Government authorities have in their possession affidavits to the effect that Fay had really urged that it was possible to blow up the British cruisers outside the harbor by stealing up to them in a motor boat and attaching one of his infernal machines. The object, supposedly, was to reduce the enemy's navy and at the same time give the fleet of Germany a chance to dash to sea and escape.

How Fay expected the machinery for the use of his infernal machines would have been used to blow up the British war vessels, which have been closely watched since the war began to prevent their escape without proper clearance or equipped to act as commerce destroyers, to get away from the United States war vessels, or how they would be able to get by the British blockade on the other side, is not explained.

But from the affidavits in the hands of the investigators Fay and his assistants believed they could pull off the feat and even made a trip in a motor boat one night down the bay to study the situation. They decided they would have to get a larger boat.

GENERAL PLAN OF DEFENSE BEING MAPPED OUT.

It seems likely that all have held in the bomb conspiracy will be defended by the same counsel. A general plan of defense was indicated by what Lieut. Robert Fay this afternoon told his attorney, Louis Jersawitz, who has been representing him since he was arrested last Sunday. Mr. Jersawitz called on Fay in the Tombs to-day, expecting to go over his defense with him, making ready to meet the case of the Government before the Grand Jury.

"I feel that I am to be superseded," said Mr. Jersawitz when he left Fay. "I expect Fay will have other counsel. Certain powerful influences are at work. Fay told me that he had been seen by 'a certain person,' and that he had therefore decided to change his manner of talking to me."

Abraham Snyder, counsel for Fay's brother-in-law, Walter L. Scholz, declared this afternoon that Scholz repudiated all confessions and that he was simply a hired man. One object of the search of New Jersey towns by Secret Service men during the past two days has been to find high explosives, known to have been bought by the plotters, and so far not accounted for.

Charles Warren, Assistant United States Attorney General, arrived from Washington to-day for a conference with United States Attorney Marshall. It is understood they have evidence that Fay and Scholz were connected with other bands doing similar work, including friends of Frank Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan, and Gustav Stahl, who made the false affidavit that the Lusitania was armed when she sailed on her last trip.

It is admitted, however, that so far as legal evidence is concerned the German plotters have in many cases effectually covered their trail. To-day the Prosecutor of Hudson County, New Jersey, will file a complaint against Fay and his co-workers accusing them of having explosives in their possession with intent to destroy property. The Federal statute under which the conspirators are now held carries imprisonment for two years. Under the New Jersey State law they may get five years.

Secret Service men are working on runabout or tour in a WORLD AD. Bargain Automobile!

Which some people feel When they see others ride In an Automobile.

But this should not be, For "USED CARS" this fall Through WORLD ADS. are brought Within reach of all.

See World "Used Cars For Sale" Ads. Any Morning or Use a World "Auto Wanted" Ad!

Every Used Car For Sale in New York City Should Be Advertised in Next Sunday's World!

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50, $4, $4.50 & $5 Shoes

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

W. L. Douglas $3.00 & $3.50 shoes are the best that can be produced for the price.

SUNDAY BATTLE OF MEXICANS DRAWS CROWD TO DOUGLAS

Will Afford Spectacle to Americans Across Border.

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., Oct. 30.—(Niger.)

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night or to-morrow with about 6,000 men to attack or besiege the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here.

Thousands are crowding into Douglas eager to see the battle spectacle despite the risk all in this town will run if Mexican bullets are turned this way. Villa was expected to attack Agua Prieta from the east, which would endanger Americans in Douglas. The battle is expected to be in full swing to-morrow.

In a skirmish to-day at Cahuilla, which rises out of the desert, also miles east of here, claimed the attention of all eyes to-day as marking the portal of a mountain pass through which Gen. Villa was expected to swing to-night